
Videofreex 50th Anniversary 1969 - 2019 Celebration!

Videofreex began when Parry and David met at the 1969 Woodstock Music & Art Festival. With the 1969 CBS “Now Project” accelerating growth, during the following year ten founding partners joined in our Soho New York City studio, moving later to Maple Tree Farm in upstate Lanesville. We lived and worked together for nearly a decade 1969 - 1978 working with dozens of collaborators including Nam June Paik, Shirley Clarke, Ant Farm, and TVTV. Videofreex Partnership, which continues today, was formalized in 2006 to further the legacy of the Videofreex and the Freex place in media history forever. This 50-year anniversary also locks Videofreex.com as a digital time capsule, using social media now for public events’ publicity. Freex partners, early video collaborators and our families gathered in August at Breathe Inn, the chic renovated AirBnB that was our 1970s home, studio, media center, and pirate TV station.

Maple Tree Farm Report: Participatory Media Roots & Branches

ROOTS: print flyer posted on walls & mailed via USPS 1974

BRANCHES: www.Videofreex.com posted on world-wide web & emailed 2019

Thirty-page illustrated report compares Videofreex and early indy video, a 1970s leading edge medium, with contemporary digital media and current indy production groups. Co-authored by five Videofreex, other early videomakers, and younger activist mediamakers, during a two-day convening. Archived on the web and at the Hunter, Phoenicia and Mountain Top (Tannersville) Public Libraries, Mountain Top Historical Society and NYSCA.

Council on the Arts

Made possible in part with funds from NYSCA EMF in Partnership with Wave Farm Media Arts Assistance Fund, with support of Governor Andrew Cuomo and the NYS Legislature.
